Drive To The Car

Gallop To The Horse

Swim To The Boat

Fly To The Airplane

Directions: Print out the four posters above onto heavy paper such as white cardstock paper and tape one to each wall of one room.

Teacher will say to the children “fly to the airplane” and then teacher will put her arms out like wings and pretend to fly to the airplane that is hanging on the wall, she will encourage the children to copy her and to find the airplane on the wall.

Repeat with:

Drive to the car – Have the children pretend they are holding a steering wheel and have them drive to the car poster.

Swim to the boat – Have the children move their arms like they are swimming as they move to the boat poster.

Gallop to the horse – Have the children move their legs like they galloping like a horse as they move to the horse poster.

Fly to the airplane – Have the children move their arms out straight and pretend to fly as they move to the airplane poster.

Randomly call out the movements above and keep repeating having the children drive, swim gallop or fly to one of the posters great fun for a gross motor activity!

This is a fun winter time gross motor movement to do inside.

If weather is appropriate outside, the posters above can be laminated and attached to the fence in your play area and this activity can be done outside instead of inside.
